Introduction of the Approved Arrangement Management Product (AAMP)

Approved users logging into the Biosecurity Portal via email will now have access to the Approved Arrangement Management Product (AAMP).

AAMP is being introduced as a new, more convenient way for the staff of biosecurity industry participants to access information about their approved arrangements.

This will allow relevant users access to view information for each of their approved arrangements, including:

- the approved arrangement reference number
- the legal and trading names of the biosecurity industry participant
- the status of the approved arrangement (e.g. approved, suspended)
- details of the different classes under the approved arrangement
- details of approved arrangement physical and postal addresses, ABN/ACN, phone number, email
- names and contact details of the managers and contact persons for the approved arrangement
- whether consent has been given for the department to publish details of the approved arrangement on its web site.

Users will also have access through AAMP to perform the following actions:

- add or remove people associated with the approved arrangement
- update the contact details for people associated with the approved arrangement
- update the trading name for the biosecurity industry participant
- update the contact details for the approved arrangement
- give or withdraw consent for the department to publish details of the approved arrangement on its web site
