

All Livestock Export Advisory Notices (EANs) 2007-2022

Summary

This document contains a list of EANs current as of September 2022 and a list of expired or information only EANs.

In January 2022 the department changed how and when EANs are issued to ensure they become notification tools, and current requirements are listed in one central location. EANs will still be received in the same way, however, any on-going requirement will be contained in the appropriate relevant location (for example requirements relevant to approved arrangements are outlined on the approved arrangement webpage, rather than in multiple locations, including multiple EANs).

Following this work, we created a new industry notice category which will supplement the existing Export Advisory Notices (EAN). These new notices will be called Market Access Notices (MAN) and are available on the Manual of Importing Country Requirements (Micor).

Previously issued EANs that hold market access information related to live animals have been moved from the department's website to Micor. This includes EANs that contain information relevant to specific export markets including sensitivities or changes to requirements. A current list is maintained on Micor. MANs will continue to be issued using the same system and distribution list for EANs.

This work is on-going and this EAN list will be updated as this work progresses. The scope of this work will include updating the website content to ensure relevant information is readily available.

For more information contact livestockexp@awe.gov.au or (02) 6272 4581.

Current EANs as of September 2022:

This table includes EANs that contain current information or regulatory requirements that may not be listed elsewhere.

We'll review this list over the coming year as we move content to new locations.
