

I'm sickened that this government refused to allow MPs to vote to end the horrible export of live sheep. If MPs were allowed a free vote there's little doubt the live sheep trade would be stopped forever.

After hearing the Bill to stop the export of live sheep get through the upper house, I was really disappointed to see this Government stifle debate in the lower house.

I am so angry by how long this is taking! When is the live export industry going to be banned by our government? It was exposed many months back now... Next time the public selects who to elect, the failure to support the Bill will have implications.
