

Steven Harrison

To Whom it may concern, AWI is an R&D company. I think it should be exploring genetics better than it currently does in relation to breeding. DNA testing should be also made as a tool that all growers can use as cheaply as possible. Governance of AWI may needs to improve. Transparency may of improved , but it is from a very low base. Proxy votes again need to be transparent or at least brought in line with that of other companies. End