I am happy with the level of the annual levey and the voting system used to establish such. I an happy with the divide up of funds to R & D and marketing, the prices of recent past prove that they are on the right path. I am not so sure that the IT platform they are getting involved in is not a duplication of what the brokers offer already. I did not like the attack on W Newman re the one-way mirror affair, the truth was blocked, few were told that the people running the sessions asked him if he would like to see how it was conducted and he only saw a very small section. Swearing at the ABC yes I would have done the same when the ABC was trying to make an argument out of nothing and bring our elected board into disrepute. The small group trying to push their position on measured sheep/ram performance I feel is no place for AWI, Few studs do so, but follow their own methods of measurement and provide what the market wants. I thought this feedback was to be question and answer, why not? Would help us cover all the points that the Minister is seeking our opinion on. Todays wool price is testament to the efficiency of the Board, and that leaves us to carry on out in the paddock doing what we can do well with confidence of the future.
