Update on listing of establishments eligible to process and store fish and fish products for export to the Russian Federation

As previously advised (refer Market Access Advice FISH09/03), a condition for market access to the Russian Federation is that all establishments (including registered vessels) that process or store fish and fish products prior to export from Australia must be approved and listed by the Federal Service for Veterinary and Phytosanitary Surveillance of the Russian Federation (Rosselkhoznadzor).

The following web address includes the list of establishments currently approved for the export of fish and fish products from Australia to the Russian Federation (third table down the page):

If an export registered fish and fish products establishment would like to enquire further on the process to become listed with the Rosselkhoznadzor, please contact your regional AQIS office and ask to speak with the Senior Export Fish Inspector.
